Re: Hannah Dilworth

To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Michael Simpson, and I've had the pleasure of coaching Hannah Dilworth in volleyball for the past four years. I've also observed her development both on and off the court—as an athlete, teammate, and young leader—and I'm honored to provide my full recommendation for her as a prospective collegiate golfer.

Hannah is one of those rare student-athletes who leads with both actions and words. She is consistently the first to arrive at practice and the last to leave, always seeking ways to improve her performance and support her teammates. Her work ethic is unmatched, and her internal drive to succeed sets her apart from her peers.

What makes Hannah truly special, however, is her ability to stay focused and composed under pressure. Whether it's a tight game on the volleyball court or a critical round on the golf course, she remains mentally strong and goal-oriented. That competitive mindset—combined with her humility and coachability—will no doubt make her a valuable contributor at the collegiate level.

Beyond her athletic talents, Hannah is a kind and respectful individual. She treats her coaches and teammates with integrity, is highly self-aware, and is always looking for ways to grow. She brings a positive energy to every environment she's a part of and is the kind of student-athlete every program hopes to recruit.

I am confident Hannah will thrive in a collegiate golf program and will represent your team with pride, discipline, and character. Please don't hesitate to contact me if you would like to discuss her potential further.

Warm regards,
Michael Simpson
